

Alesund fire

In 1904 I was in bed watching TV and I started to hear people screaming.

And I looked through the window to see what was happening and saw the burning city.

I took some important things and left my house because it was wooden and would begin to burn.

I met with some neighbors and thankfully all escaped except a grandfather who could not escape.