

Alesund

Alesund is a village in Norway. My village.

One year ago it was burn. I'll tell the story.

We were chillin in our house when we start to see fire outside. Suddenly all the village was burn. My family and I ran to the coast to not get burned. Also other families of the town ran to the coast.

Now our house is in good condicions than ever. All the people of the village help us to get the house in a good state. Also people outside the town.

The toughest part of that is that all the wood is black and burned.

We hope that all comes to the normal way.